Director & CEO

Dear G7N Family!

We're near the conference day! After 120 long days since the acquisition, the wait is almost over.

This year we have a record turnout of 132 delegates! The entire team has worked round the clock to put together a special event here including your 1:1 Meetings, Talks from Industry leaders, Sports tournaments, Swim up meetings, Gala dinners, Award Nights, and even a city tour!

Chris, Nils and I are fully committed to deliver G7N just the way you are used to. We are all hands-on deck to preserve the values and culture of this beautiful community. The same values that Richard upheld with pride.

I am pumped to meet you very soon and hear your story. I want know how I can help you grow and connect you to your next big opportunity.

See you in Phuket and Welcome to G7N!

Melvin Xavier
Director

Dear G7N Members,

Welcome to the G7N Logistics Networks!

As we gather for the upcoming exciting event, let's remember the core purpose of our time during the conference: building relationships. In today's world, success is greatly influenced by relationships. Your best customers are those with whom you build genuine connections.

Studies indicate that the majority of referrals originate from individuals who genuinely like and trust you.

During our four days event, let's prioritize the establishment of rapport and trust. Instead of solely focusing on sales, let's concentrate on cultivating meaningful connections.

The most successful people are those who genuinely care about their customers and actively listen to their needs. Therefore, let's seize this opportunity to forge new connections, strengthen existing ones, and lay the groundwork for future collaborations. Together, let's make this conference a testament to the significance of relationships in driving business success.

See you soon in Phuket, welcome to G7N.
