Happy Holidays

To Everyone We Worked With This Year,

As we approach the end of 2025, we wanted to pause not just to reflect on the milestones, but to acknowledge the people behind them.

This year, we've seen the G7 community grow, connect, and collaborate across borders and time zones. But beyond the numbers and meetings, what we truly value is the trust you place in us and in each other.

In a world that rarely slows down, we're grateful for the conversations, the partnerships, and the quiet professionalism that keeps this network moving.

From our team to yours:

We wish you a peaceful holiday season. May the next year bring clarity, meaningful connections, and the kind of progress that lasts.

We'll be here when you're ready, rested, refocused, and ready to build again.

Warm regards,
The G7 Logistics Networks Team

Connect

Dear G7 Family,

As 2025 comes to a close, I'm proud to look back on a year that marked G7's 9th anniversary and reinforced what has always defined us : a community built on people, trust, and uncompromising quality. G7 has never been "just a network." It's a mindset shared by top-tier forwarders and forward-thinking industry leaders who know the value of genuine connection.

This year brought meaningful change. We began refining our identity with a unified brand direction, and in early 2026 we'll roll out new initiatives designed to elevate both the value and visibility of G7. You'll see the impact of these developments very soon.

Before looking forward, a major highlight was our 7th Annual Conference, held May 2–5 at the Shangri-La Bangkok. Hosting 152 delegates from around the world, it was one of our most memorable gatherings to date. The gala cruise along the Chao Phraya remains a personal standout.

We tested a refreshed event concept, gathered extensive feedback, and will continue shaping our conference format around what truly serves this community and brings meaningful value.

G7 has been a love brand for me from my first day at X2 Group: fresh, smart, selective, and grounded in "Quality over Quantity." Stepping into the role of Network Manager is an honor. I'm grateful for your trust and I carry deep respect the history and leadership that shaped G7 since 2016. Together, we'll carry the flag of our community and push our network to new heights.

Our mission stays the same: empower members through meaningful connections, innovation, and shared success. As we move forward, expect new energy, stronger engagement, and bold improvements across the board.

This year, G7 represented proudly at multiple industry events, with our own booth signaling a stronger global presence and expanded opportunities for members.

Now, we look ahead. We cannot wait to welcome you to our 8th Annual Conference in Antalya, Turkey on April 22–25, our first gathering outside Thailand. It will be a defining moment for the future of G7 and one you won't want to miss...

Cheers from Bangkok!
David Hycik

How does a new forwarder make a 100-year-old logistics empire irrelevant?

Christian Raeuber
Director

By understanding one truth: visibility beats history.

In freight forwarding, people assume longevity equals authority. A company founded in 1923 should automatically outrank a company founded in 2019. But the market doesn't work that way anymore.

Today, the firms winning attention, trust, and business are not the oldest. They're the ones who are most visible, most active, and most present.

A century-old forwarder can have the strongest operations, the most experience, the deepest relationships, but if their digital presence looks like an abandoned warehouse, they'll lose to a five-year-old startup that simply knows how to show up online.

This is the visibility gap.

Most forwarders still believe reputation spreads through word of mouth. It used to. Before the industry moved to LinkedIn, before partners started checking profiles, and before digital silence became a liability instead of a neutral factor. Buyers and overseas partners now look for three signals:

- Are you active?
- Are you competent?
- Are you relevant?

A company page that hasn't posted since Christmas 2019 quietly answers all three with a "no".

Meanwhile, the younger forwarder publishes:

- Case studies of lane wins
- Short operational lessons
- Conference recaps
- Staff introductions
- Photos with partners
- Even failures and what they learned

They look alive. They look aware of the market. They look ready. Momentum is persuasive.

The forwarding industry needs to realise something important: Longevity is not a strategy. Visibility is.

Digital presence is not "marketing" anymore. It is a proof-of-competence signal. Just like a clean warehouse, an organised SOP, or a strong event meeting schedule.

Tradition gives you roots. Visibility gives you reach. If you don't show up, the market moves on without you.

Member Nomination Highlight: Spherical Logistics Nominated Marinair Freight

Durban, South Africa, Demonstrating the power of cross-border logistics excellence, Spherical Logistics (PTY) Ltd., in collaboration with Marinair Freight Ltd, has successfully overseen the international shipment and discharge of four Hitachi EH4000AC-3 dump truck buckets a critical component for mining operations in Southern Africa.

The oversized cargo originated from Shanghai, China, arriving smoothly at the Port of Durban, South Africa, where it was discharged without delays or incidents, showcasing the coordination and efficiency of both logistics teams.

The operation marks a major milestone in the journey of these massive components, with the final destination set for Solwezi, Zambia, home to some of the region's most important mining operations.

The next phase of the journey is set to begin this Wednesday, as the cargo embarks on an abnormal-load road transport operation from Durban to Solwezi. This leg involves a meticulously planned logistics strategy, employing specialised trailers and escort vehicles to navigate the challenging route across international borders and varied terrain.

This successful collaboration reflects the seamless integration of global freight forwarding and local logistical expertise, reinforcing both companies' reputations as leaders in handling complex industrial shipments.

Freight World Corporation Delivers Under Pressure with Successful Malaysian Export Project

Freight World Corporation is proud to announce the successful completion of its latest time-critical logistics project: "Exporting to Malaysia." This complex shipment involved the urgent collection, transport, and packing of a 20'GP container, all within a tight 24-hour window.

The cargo originated from Tasmania and was bound for Malaysia, with the logistics team facing a major challenge: meeting the only available shipping schedule from the Port of Melbourne for the entire month. Missing this window would have meant weeks of delay for the client.

Despite the pressure, Freight World Corporation executed the entire process from collection to port delivery flawlessly and on time.

"This project is a clear example of our team's ability to act fast, adapt to urgent client needs, and deliver results with precision," said a company spokesperson. "We take pride in providing efficient, end-to-end freight solutions, even under tight timelines."

This achievement showcases Freight World Corporation's expertise in urgent cargo handling and commitment to reliable international freight services.

CSC Transport Expands with New Nansha - Hyderabad Route

CSC Transport is pleased to announce the successful execution of a new shipment under the G7 network, connecting Nansha, China (POL) to ICD Hyderabad, India (POD).

This latest movement involved a 1 × 20'GP container, showcasing CSC's continued commitment to expanding connectivity between strategic trade corridors in Asia. The shipment strengthens CSC's growing presence in South Asia, enabling faster and more efficient cargo delivery for our partners and clients.

As global trade flows evolve, CSC Transport remains committed to providing dependable logistics solutions across the G7 alliance network. The NANSHA-Hyderabad route reflects our dedication to opening new trade lanes and optimizing service coverage between China and India.

Stay tuned for more service updates and thank you for your continued trust in CSC Transport.

Strategic Cooperation Between SWL and Lufthansa Through the Signing of a HBA

We are happy to announce that Shanghai Windows Logistics (SWL), our G7 member, has officially signed a strategic partnership with Lufthansa Cargo in Shanghai, effective from 01.10.2025!

In partnership with Lufthansa, SWL is proud to have reached this important milestone securing fixed allotments from PVG to FRA, including distribution within Europe through Lufthansa's extensive RFS fleet and its European air network. From Frankfurt, they can now reach almost every destination in Europe efficiently, whether by RFS or air connection, within a short time frame.

This achievement significantly strengthens their position in the airfreight market, with a primary focus on Europe, as well as select long-haul destinations served by Lufthansa's global network via the Frankfurt hub.

This cooperation elevates SWL to a new level, allowing them to minimize offload risks through fixed space arrangements and optimize transshipment loading in Frankfurt faster and more reliably than at many other European hubs.

SWL looks forward to supporting you and your clients with the advantages of this new development. Should you need further details, please don't hesitate to reach out to Anna or me directly.

We're excited to see SWL take this next step in global connectivity and look forward to the continued success of this high-level partnership with Lufthansa Cargo!

Freight-World's Corporation Specialty

At Freight-World, our G7 and G7 Critical, specialize in handling unique and challenging cargo. One of their most exciting recent projects was importing a beautiful gold pizza oven from Italy. This complex shipment was collected under EXW (Ex Works) terms directly from the factory in Italy and shipped to Australia. Once it arrived, they collected it from the port depot and brought it to their secured warehouse for storage.

Since their client's restaurant isn't quite ready, they're holding onto the oven for them. When they're ready, they'll deliver it safely to its final destination. Handling these "once-in-a-lifetime" projects is what they do best. Their end-to-end service, from factory collection to final delivery, ensures your precious cargo is in expert hands every step of the way. This is just one of the many specialized services they offer to meet their clients' diverse needs.

Origin: Italy

Destination: Melbourne, Australia

Cargo: Gold Pizza Oven

Leb Freight SAL Delivers Another Successful Consolidated Container

Charly Hajjar of Leb Freight SAL has successfully completed the shipment of a fully consolidated 40-foot high cube (40'HC) container, showcasing the company's continued excellence in international freight handling.

The container, which included a mix of heavy machinery and delicate components, was expertly secured using proper dunnage, strapping, and blocking techniques highlighting the company's commitment to cargo integrity and safety throughout the shipping process.

"Proper preparation isn't optional, it's essential," said Charly Hajjar, who supervised the project. "From bulky equipment to fragile parts, every item needs meticulous attention to ensure it arrives intact. That's the standard we uphold at Leb Freight SAL."

Leb Freight SAL has built a reputation for reliability in complex shipments and consolidated freight solutions, serving a broad range of industries across global markets. With operations managed by experienced professionals like Hajjar, the company continues to meet the rising demands of international commerce with precision and care.

This successful delivery underscores the company's ability to handle diverse cargo requirements while ensuring compliance with international shipping standards.

Spherical Logistics Delivering Pharma Across Borders

Spherical Logistics is proud to announce the successful and secure delivery of four 40-foot refrigerated containers containing essential pharmaceutical products from India to Lesotho, via a seamless and carefully coordinated transit through South Africa.

The mission-critical shipment demanded strict temperature-controlled logistics, and Spherical Logistics delivered with precision, leveraging its specialised fleet and expert cross-border operations team stationed at the Maseru Bridge Border.

Maintaining an unbroken cold chain throughout the journey, our dedicated professionals ensured that product integrity was never compromised from the point of origin all the way to the final destination in Lesotho.

This operation is a testament to Spherical Logistics' commitment to excellence in pharmaceutical logistics, where safety, compliance, and reliability are non-negotiable.

As pharmaceutical supply chains grow more complex, Spherical Logistics continues to lead with innovative solutions and cross-border expertise that ensure life-saving products reach their destinations safely and on time.

Cargoconnect Delivers Three Firefighting Helicopters Across Continents

Precision and expertise are the hallmarks of strong logistics leadership, and Cargoconnect Pty continues to embody both.

The team successfully delivered three firefighting helicopters from Queensland to Frankfurt, supported by Cathay Cargo. Each unit weighed two tonnes, required specialised handling, and precise coordination across borders.

With Robert Simons leading the operation, the teams ensured the choppers were secured, uplifted, and transferred smoothly through every stage, including the final handover onto trucks for last-mile delivery. A shipment of this scale demands more than equipment. It demands experience, discipline, and trust between partners.

We're proud to see G7 members like Cargoconnect consistently deliver missions that keep communities safe and supply chains resilient.
