DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Director & CEO
G7N Logistics Network

Connect

Hey G7N Family,

G7N's 7th Anniversary Was EPIC. And This Is Just the Beginning!

Still buzzing from Bangkok? Because we are.

A massive thank you to every single one of you who joined us at the 7th Annual G7N Conference. Whether you flew across continents or joined us with that signature G7N energy, you made it unforgettable. Over 152 forwarders. The conference was made even more special as it was co-located with our partner networks: Global Air Cargo Forwarders Alliance, Cold Chain Connect, and Life Logistics. One riverfront resort. Countless memories (and maybe a few stories best left off the record).

We're proud of what we've built together over the past decade, not just events, but a real community. One that laughs, learns, and levels up together.

In this newsletter:

A full recap of G7N Conference 2025 featuring our Photo Gallery, held May 2–5 at the Shangri-la Bangkok Thailand.

And an industry feature that's as cutting-edge as it gets: "Agentive AI – What It Is and How It Will Transform Freight Forwarding".

Yes, we're going there.

G7N isn't just about partnerships, it's about staying ahead, adapting fast, and growing smarter together.

Thanks again for your ongoing trust and support. Here's to another year of growth, connections, and, of course, a few more legendary parties along the way.

Cheers from Vancouver!

Sincerely,
Nils Walle

Charter of Timber Arches from Auckland to Melbourne

Scott Ellery

Director

Hawk-Ellery Freight Services Limited

www.g7logisticsnetworks.com

Hawk Ellery Charter of Timber Arches from Auckland to Melbourne

Hawk Ellery New Zealand, G7N Projects member, acting as cargo agent, coordinated the transport of 91 curved timber beams to the Port of Auckland. This included lifting, stevedoring, surveying, fumigation, export clearance, and assistance with freight negotiations and shipping from Auckland to Melbourne, successfully completed across three separate charters.

The beams ranged in length from 7 to 30 meters, with a total weight of approximately 300 metric tonnes. The curve of the widest pieces measured up to 6 meters. A key challenge was their arched shape, which required meticulous planning for transport and stowage. A unified berth and fumigation zone were carefully selected to streamline road delivery, fumigation, and vessel loading at a single location, significantly reducing risk and port movement. A detailed lifting plan featuring double slinging was developed to help with weight distribution and limiting the number of arches per lift ensured safe and efficient handling.

Thorough planning, proactive approach, effective communication, and comprehensive risk assessment were all critical to the successful execution of this complex project.

We're proud to be part of the G7N Projects networks and to benefit from the expertise of its members.

Kudos to Scott Ellery and team!

Freight-World Corporation RORO Adventure

Freight-World Corporation has successfully facilitated the transportation of a large machine from Melbourne, Australia, to Galveston, USA, utilizing the Roll-On/Roll-Off (RORO) method. This approach is ideal for shipping wheeled cargo, such as vehicles and heavy machinery, ensuring efficient and secure delivery.

The operation was executed with precision and professionalism, thanks to the expertise and dedication of the entire Freight-World team. From meticulous planning to real-time coordination, every aspect of the journey was managed flawlessly, ensuring the machine arrived safely and on time.

This successful project underscores Freight-World's commitment to providing tailored logistics solutions that meet the unique needs of each client. With offices in Melbourne, Sydney, and Brisbane, and a network of 58 agents worldwide, Freight-World continues to be a leader in international freight forwarding.

Kudos to the Freight World Corporation team!

Leb Freight Manages Challenging Non-Stackable LCL Shipment

A recent Less than Container Load (LCL) shipment consisting of 8 non-stackable pallets of general cargo was transported from the Port of New York, USA, to the Port of Beirut, Lebanon shipped by G7N member, Leb Freight. The shipment was consolidated at a Container Freight Station (CFS) in New York before being loaded into a shared container bound for the Mediterranean region.

The non-stackable nature of the cargo significantly impacted space efficiency within the container. As a result, the reduced volume utilization led to a higher chargeable volume being applied, reflecting the common challenge faced by logistics providers when handling irregular or non-stackable freight in shared containers.

Upon arrival at the Port of Beirut, the container was promptly unloaded, and the shipment underwent customs clearance without delay. The cargo was successfully delivered to the final receiver, marking the completion of a complex international transport that highlights key considerations in LCL shipping logistics.

Excellent work Leb Freight team!

Agentic AI: What Is It and How Will It Transform Freight Forwarding?

The world of logistics is evolving rapidly, and the next wave of innovation is being driven by Agentic AI. Unlike traditional large language models (LLMs) like ChatGPT, which respond to user prompts, Agentic AI takes initiative. It doesn't wait to be asked. It observes, decides, and acts on your behalf. In the freight forwarding industry, this shift from reactive to proactive automation is a game-changer.

What Is the Difference Between Agentic AI and LLMs?

Think of LLMs as intelligent assistants. You ask a question, and they respond. They are powerful, but they require direction.

Agentic AI, by contrast, behaves more like a virtual team member. It monitors systems, predicts needs, makes decisions, and carries out tasks without constant supervision. It works with people but doesn't wait on them. In logistics, that means a significant boost in efficiency, responsiveness, and consistency.

Practical Deployment in Freight Forwarding

Here is how freight forwarding companies can use Agentic AI across different functions:

1. Operations – Task-Oriented Freight Agents

AI Freight Ops Agent: Tracks shipments in real time, identifies delays or missed milestones, and automatically notifies customers and internal teams. It can trigger rebookings or alert human operators to escalate problems.

Pain Points Solved: Manual shipment tracking, delayed responses, and lack of visibility.

2. Sales – Autonomous Lead Converters

AI Sales Agent: Scans CRM data continuously, spots warm leads from previous inquiries, and follows up with tailored messaging. It can handle lead nurturing without waiting for sales reps to take action.

Pain Points Solved: Missed opportunities, delayed follow-ups, and poor lead conversion.

3. Customer Service – Always-On Support Agents

AI Customer Service Agent: Responds to emails, chats, and WhatsApp messages with instant updates, FAQs, or escalations to human agents. It logs interactions to maintain full visibility and ensure follow-through.

Pain Points Solved: Overloaded service teams, repetitive inquiries, inconsistent communication.

4. Marketing – Content and Campaign Engines

AI Marketing Agent: Reviews recent shipment activity, market news, and customer behavior to create relevant posts, newsletters, and targeted campaigns. It can also schedule and publish them across platforms.

Pain Points Solved: Lack of consistent marketing, limited content generation, poor engagement.

Why This Matters

In an industry where timing, accuracy, and communication drive success, Agentive AI delivers measurable improvements. It eliminates routine tasks, reduces errors, and enables teams to respond faster to customer needs and market conditions.

Logistics companies that adopt Agentive AI will not only save time but will also shift from reacting to challenges to anticipating them. It gives forwarders a competitive edge in a landscape that demands agility and dependability.

Final Thought

Agentive AI is more than automation. It is an active collaborator within your team, helping freight forwarders operate smarter, faster, and more strategically. For G7 members looking to build future-ready businesses, the time to explore Agentive AI is now.
